This advice is for when you have a poor appetite or have lost weight or have increased dietary needs
eg to help wound healing

FOOD FIRST – some ideas to help improve your appetite

- Have small, frequent meals every 3 hours.
- Avoid drinking before meals as this can make you feel full. Try taking drinks with or after meals.
- If you find preparing meals tiring, make use of frozen or ready-made meals and snacks.
- Try to get outside for some fresh air before meal times.
- Your Doctor may prescribe a multivitamin tablet such as Forceval or you can buy one from your pharmacist

Make the most of your food and fluids

- Small frequent meals and snacks are a good way to increase your calorie intake. Aim to eat every 2-3 hours.
- Fortifying your diet will help to make a small amount of food or drink more nourishing.
- Aim to drink 6-8 cups/glasses of fluid a day. Make these as nourishing as possible. eg milky coffee or hot chocolate instead of tea.

Additional help: Ready-made meals

- If you are having difficulty preparing meals consider ready-made meals, either from the supermarket or a frozen meal delivery service (Wiltshire Farm Foods, Oak House Foods). Avoid low calorie or diet versions.
- Wiltshire Farm Foods Freephone 0800 773773
www.wiltshirefarmfoods.com
- Oakhouse Foods Freephone 0845 6432009

- If you already have ready prepared meals, add some glazed vegetables and a slice of bread and butter to help increase the nutritional value.

Food Fortification

Try simple ways to increase the energy and protein content of meals. Initially aim to fortify one dish per meal.

Nutritional Supplement Drinks

If your appetite is very small, you can buy nutritional drinks such as Build Up® or Complan®. These can be made up with whole milk and are good for between meals as a nourishing drink. They are available to buy from most supermarkets and pharmacies.

Vitamin Supplement

Your GP or nurse may prescribe a multivitamin tablet whilst you have a small appetite or you can buy one from your pharmacist.

Food Safety

- Always wash your hands before cooking or handling food. Dry them on a clean towel.
- Some foods can be cooked from frozen (NB read label). Other foods, such as meat, must be thawed thoroughly before cooking. Thaw in a refrigerator and follow packet instructions.
- Keep meat, fish and poultry away from other foods to prevent contamination. Wash chopping boards and utensils carefully – especially after using them for raw foods.
- Wash fruit and vegetables thoroughly before use.
- Allow hot foods to cool before putting in fridge or freezer.
- Use plastic containers/tubs or cover food to store in the fridge. Do not leave food in cans.
- Only keep leftover food for 2 days in the fridge and not beyond the 'use-by date'.
- Do not let rubbish build up in the kitchen or kitchen bin.
- Keep pets away from food and work surfaces in the kitchen.

Diabetes

If you have diabetes and you normally check the sugar (glucose) in your urine or blood, you should continue to do this regularly and contact your Practice Nurse or Diabetes Nurse if you have trouble keeping your results within normal limits.

Healthy Heart

If you have a high cholesterol level you can still follow the advice in this booklet whilst you need to improve dietary intake or to gain weight. Vegetable fats/oils are healthier choices than animal fats, so use a full fat olive based spread instead of butter, and use vegetable oil (rapeseed or olive oil) for cooking.

Choose less of the fatty meats and pastry items but have more dried fruit, nuts, flapjacks, fruit bread or teacakes with spread and jam for snacks. Nourishing drinks can be made with fortified whole milk but avoid adding cream.
